

(For girls from 4 and over)

Little Girls think Big

The day the little family came on a visit

There was a lot going on in the dolls house that day. LEGO®'s little family came to tea. There was Mummy, Daddy, the two children and Grandma.

They can sit and stand. Hold hands. Hold LEGO bricks. They can grow bigger or smaller, fatter or thinner.

And they fit together with all your other LEGO bricks. The family comes in all the Easy Models sets, as well as in the special Family Pack.

200
The LEGO family

250
Aeroplane and pilot

251
Windmill with miller and his wife

252
Locomotive with engine driver

The day they moved into their new home

That was the time our little girl got a new Basic Set. There are seven sizes of Basic Sets. Containing everything from roofing tiles, windows and doors that can open and shut, to trees that stay green all year round. And a lot of bricks of the most useful colours and shapes. So you can build what you like. A new house for the family. Or why not a caravan?

361
Tea garden cafe with baker's van

Basic Sets
Nos. 2-8

The day the dinner got burnt in the new kitchen

That was the day the little girl played with one of the large dolls house sets. There could have been a lot of other events that day: a flood in the bathroom: a new baby in the nursery: or a party in the sitting room. As well as sets to build these rooms there are eight little packs of furniture too. All at small prices.

and 8 little packs of furniture

To parents

The urge to create is equally strong in all children. Boys and girls.

It's imagination that counts. Not skill. You build whatever comes into your head, the way you want it. A bed or a truck. A dolls house or a spaceship.

A lot of boys like dolls houses. They're more human than spaceships.

A lot of girls prefer spaceships. They're more exciting than dolls houses.

The most important thing is to put the right material in their hands and let them create whatever appeals to them.

