

A guide to LEGO® for the whole family 1976

From 18 months...

A

Baby Anne loves banging things together, stacking, tumbling and shunting things. For her the special big LEGO Nursery Bricks with their bright colours and rounded corners are ideal. She loves their feel and the sound they make when they tumble.

She thinks she is just having fun. You know she is learning to use her fingers and to co-ordinate hand and eye.

Soon she will be ready for more bricks, for arches and wheeled trolleys. Then, when she is about 3 she will be able to handle standard size LEGO bricks and build them together with her big Nursery Bricks.

Kathie and Mark are old enough to play with standard LEGO bricks. Basic Sets give them the best start because the balanced selection of different components gives the widest scope for building lots of different models. The pictures on the boxes give lots of ideas but the children will find countless others themselves.

Special line: Dolls furniture. From 6 years...

At Christmas 6 year old Susie got some LEGO dolls furniture from her Granny. She enjoyed building it and now would like more to furnish her dolls house.

She plans to build a removal van from her other LEGO bricks and then her LEGO family can move in.

From 6 years...

Susie and her 7 year old brother are reaching the stage where they like their models to be more realistic and detailed. They enjoy the challenge of following building instructions as well as designing their own models. The new Advanced Basic Sets do just this. They contain more specialised components like cranes and ladders and small scale figures. There are building instructions for some models and ideas for many more. The biggest set even contains a LEGO motor which can really get things moving.

Special line: Trains. From 6 years...

Here are trains which you build yourself. Today a steam locomotive, tomorrow an inter-city express. Build from the plans or redesign them to suit your own ideas.

Peter is hoping for some more waggons for his birthday. He plans to build houses and bridges and things from his other LEGO bricks to make a really good layout.

Building with LEGO bricks is great fun because children use them to make models which express their own ideas. Either imaginative and fantastic or realistic and detailed.

As all LEGO bricks and components can be built together, every new addition swells the collection, giving children greater scope for building what they want, just the way they want it.

What is more, boys and girls from the youngest to the oldest can find what they want in the wide LEGO range. Let the Smith family be your guide. But first, let us introduce you. Meet...

1. Uncle John. 2. Susie, aged 6. 3. Peter, aged 7. 4. Mum. 5. Cousin David, he's 10. 6. Baby Anne, 18 months. 7. Dad. 8. Cousin Kate, aged 4. 9. Granny. 10. Mark, aged 5.

Guarantee of satisfaction. All LEGO sets are packed with great care, but if you should have a complaint, please write to our Consumer Service Dept. stating the number of the Set and giving details of the size and colour of any parts missing or damaged so that we can replace them. This will ensure satisfaction more speedily than if you return the Set to the shop where you bought it.
