In this type of play your child will use toys energetically, such as by throwing or pushing them. By carrying out such activities your child will learn how to control the body and coordinate their actions.

Experimental play

Stacking things, putting things into containers, sorting shapes are all types of experimental play. By watching and talking to your child you can help them with their new discoveries.

The serious business of play

The art of playing is very important in your child's life. By playing, they develop from being young individuals who listen and observe, to sociable, happy children who will have learnt necessary skills for their adult lives. LEGO Toys provide that necessary stimulus for children.

The product can be used in all types of play.

Creative play

Using toys to make things can be so much fun. It doesn't matter what your child makes as everything they do is a masterpiece.

Fantasy play

When children get a little older they love to act things out, make stories up and use their toys in imaginative ways. Role play with LEGO products is great fun and exciting stories can be dreamt up and acted out.

Messy play

A lot of our products have been designed with 'messy play' in mind. By playing with sand and water along with our product children learn about the different properties of materials.

Playing with Friends

By playing with their friends children learn to socialise, and playing with LEGO products helps that process. In this pre-school section and in the rest of the brochure we have tried to give you as much information as possible on the individual LEGO products which cover all areas of play. They are all important stages, which with the help of LEGO products, your child can really get down to the serious business of play.

Discovering the world...

The fun starts with LEGO® PRIMO Baby Toys

LEGO PRIMO toys have been designed with babies in mind. At 0-3 months your baby will listen, observe, begin to recognise people, objects and places.

As they move into the 3-6 month age group babies will learn how to reach for things, hold things, chew and put things in their mouth. LEGO PRIMO Desmond Duck and Lucy Ladybird are just the toys for this stage.

From 6-12 months, your child will learn to make sounds and recognise people. They will learn that objects go away but come back. LEGO PRIMO stacking toys and the fun sorter will help to develop their hand to eye co-ordination and recognition of shapes and colours, whilst other toys in the range introduce fantasy play.

From 12-14 months, children will be walking and having greater control over all their movements including hands. LEGO PRIMO blocks will be important at this stage as fantasy play begins to take over your child's play time. Their language skills will also develop as you talk to your child about what models can be built with the blocks.

NEW 2094 LEGO PRIMO Desmond Duck and House.

The different sensations of the plastic and the fabric will encourage your child to develop its tactile sense. The door of the house is secured by Velcro tape so opening and closing the entrance can be practised. As your child develops, this small house can turn into a home for other PRIMO and DUPLO animals. Desmond also rattles which gives lots of fun for your child. From birth.

NEW 2093 LEGO PRIMO Lucy Ladybird.

A brightly coloured first toy for encouraging eye movement and for recognising different surfaces. The handle is made from chewable material and the black spots on the ladybird are raised so little fingers can search them out. From birth.

NEW 2099 LEGO PRIMO Fun Sorter.

A real challenge for little brains. With your help your child can stack them things high to knock them down again as well as learn how to fit the different shapes into the different holes. The set also includes a baseplate. An ideal toy which encourages the use of lots of basic skills. From 8 months.
